

COMMUNITY TENT/ FLOAT

Venue

Vern Burton Community Center or the Elks building (1st and Lincoln)

Your Commitment

- Show up on time or early for your shift
- Report to the Volunteer/Performer Check-in Tent (on the south side of 4th street, just west of the Vern Burton.) The Site Manager will check in with you either at the tent, or at your volunteer location within the first 30 minutes of your shift.
- Orient yourself with the ticket sales office, the restrooms, and where each stage is.
- If you are assigned to the Community Tent, proceed there. If you are assigned as a Float, you will be directed to your station by the Volunteer Coordinator or Site Manager.

What your role entails

- Your help will be utilized as needed. If we are fully staffed, you will spend time:
 - o walking the grounds
 - o helping with the Volunteer Tent or Street Fair
 - o checking the bathrooms for supplies and wiping down sink area
 - o emptying garbages or recycling
 - o covering quick breaks for other volunteers
- If you are assigned to the Community Tent, you will help with transitions between groups, help with activities as needed, and act as a general liaison between the community groups and JFFA
- Be flexible and helpful. You may be asked to check the bathrooms for supplies, walk the grounds, or clean up after a show.

Dress comfortably. Volunteer T-shirts are provided.

Our Commitment

We will provide:

- Contact information for your Site Manager
- Map of the Venue and additional schedules

In exchange for fulfilling your commitment, the Juan de Fuca Foundation for the Arts will provide you with a one-day pass for the festival. This can be picked up at the Volunteer Check-in Tent.
